

Connected Credit Union responds to COVID-19

Connected Credit Union is committed to assisting our community with efforts to prevent potential exposure to the Coronavirus. Maintaining the well-being of our staff and members is of our utmost concern, while still providing our members with the financial services they have come to rely upon. It is extremely important for us to reassure all members that your credit union continues to be very safe and secure and we're doing everything in our power to provide services to our members. Recommendations from the Center for Disease Control and the State of Maine are those dictating our actions in response to maintaining social distancing. With these thoughts in mind, please note the following:

We are doing all we can to prevent the spread of this virus and have taken extra precautions to protect the health and well-being of both our members and staff, including asking our staff members to stay home if they are sick. Others will be working from home as their needs require. Equally as important, is your cooperation in limiting face to face contact. Remember our digital services are available 24/7.

We are taking this proactive approach out of an abundance of caution. For additional information, please visit <https://www.cdc.gov/coronavirus/2019-nCoV/index.html>.
