Online Shopping and Social Media Ads

Online shopping is a quick and easy way to purchase the things we want in the most convenient manner. Everything is just a click away, but some things require a bit more thought.

If you are shopping online and provide your personal information as well as your debit card information to a merchant, you are agreeing to the terms and conditions set forth by that merchant. Requesting a “trial size” offer or agreeing to a “free” offer where the consumer only pays the shipping cost, is likely a way for the merchant to begin billing you monthly for upcoming product deliveries. These types of transactions are not scams, they are legitimate companies offering their products to online consumers. These consumer-initiated transactions are not refundable by Visa or your financial institution and could result in the consumer being fully responsible for charges to their checking account.

It is for these reasons that we highly recommend reading the fine print before making online purchases of this nature.

April is Financial Literacy Month!

April is financial literacy month! Teaching children the importance of saving money will instill good financial habits in them for a lifetime! When our young savers (children through the ages of 13) become credit union members, CC the Owl welcomes them with deposit matching up to $15! Prizes continue to be awarded as they grow their savings with future deposits. CC the Owl also offers monthly drawings for our youth accounts, whenever your child makes a deposit into their account, they become eligible to win our $25 drawing (ask for details).
