FINANCE CHARGE ON OPEN END ACCOUNT

The finance charge is figured by multiplying the actual daily balance for each day the balance is outstanding times the daily periodic rate then in effect. The actual daily balance is the total of the outstanding balance at the beginning of each day, plus any new advances and minus any payments or credits made that day. Use of the actual daily balance method to compute the finance charge is equivalent to the use of the average daily balance method described in section 2-402 of the Maine Consumer Credit Code.
